SmartStartMenu is a free utility for Windows that will build a SmartList with Windows items that are generated on-the-fly based on the menu items that you type. SmartStartMenu is the beginning of a new revolution in Windows software development. Eliminate frustration and wasted time by allowing the user to tell you the name of the application that they want to run. 1) For example, if you search for any file on your PC, SmartStartMenu will automatically create an entry to show that you can access the file with a right-click on the taskbar. 2) If you search for any file on a web site, SmartStartMenu will automatically create an entry to show that you can access the file on the web site with a right-click on the taskbar. 3) If you search for the name of the program on the web, SmartStartMenu will automatically create an entry to show that you can run the program with a right-click on the taskbar. What makes this tool unique is that it "learns" your behavior and builds upon that behavior to generate SmartLists that are more useful for you. For example, after you have used SmartStartMenu for a while, you may want to exclude certain types of web sites from the SmartList. So, you may tell SmartStartMenu to search for, for example, "www.mysite.com" and that would then exclude any sites that include that text from being in the SmartList. SmartStartMenu is a Multi-platform program that runs on Windows, Macintosh, Linux and Unix operating systems. Includes Registry and command line scanning utilities. Scan your System, Registry, Prefetch, Cookies, HISTORY, Temporary Files, Run and RunOnce files for changes. Eliminate the manual processes of manually updating your browsers, mailing lists, and other applications.

Manually update your browsers, mailing lists, and other applications for the updates that are available. Allows you to define the behavior of your computer and create workflows that automate your daily activities.

Automates the running of programs that the user is performing (such as clicking buttons and opening windows). SmartStartMenu is part of a personal information manager suite called DAZE. This utility was developed to eliminate manual processes of updating your browsers, mailing lists, and other applications.
